

THE DECORATOR OF WILDLANDS

In WILDLANDS, you can experience the worlds of Serenga, Jungola and Nortica. The environments for the animals have been designed as natural as possible. The plants, buildings and details around the park have also been designed to fit in with each other. This design is carried out by a number of decorators. Hans Peter is one of the decorators of WILDLANDS and this is where he works.

'I devise and make small animal enclosures and thematise the design of such things as the rat warehouse and the Monkey Market, where the squirrel monkeys and agouti can be seen. In an enclosure, we incorporate hidden feeding places, and due to my background as a keeper, I know precisely what can be included with animals and what is not possible.'

EXTERIOR

The exterior of enclosures and other buildings are also designed to a theme. But also smaller objects like the skulls on the Head Hunters Path or the Dogon masks in the Sun Palace leave a real impression to the worlds of WILDLANDS.
